

A Study of Christian Character in Community

LIVING
THE GOOD LIFE
TOGETHER

Authors

Attentiveness: Being Present Forgiveness: Letting Go

by Susan Pendleton Jones and L. Gregory Jones

Susan Pendleton Jones, a United Methodist elder, is Director of Special Programs at Duke University Divinity School, where her responsibilities include teaching, mentoring students for ordination, and coordinating the Teaching Congregations program. She is a frequent retreat leader for lay and clergy groups. Her travel on behalf of the Divinity School includes pilgrimages to Africa, Russia, France, Palestine/Israel, and Korea. as part of a developing series produced by the United Methodist Publishing House.

L. Gregory Jones, a United Methodist elder, is Dean and Professor of Theology at Duke University Divinity School. A noted scholar, teacher, and church leader, he is the author or editor of thirteen books, including the acclaimed Embodying Forgiveness, Everyday Matters: Intersections of Life and Faith, and, most recently, Resurrecting Excellence: Shaping Faithful Christian Ministry.

Intimacy: Pursuing Love by M. Garlinda Burton

M. Garlinda Burton is an editor, journalist, and expert on issues of gender and racial justice. She is general secretary of the General Commission on the Status and Role of Women in The United Methodist Church and a joyfully involved member of Hobson United Methodist Church in Nashville, Tennessee.

Discernment: Acting Wisely by Sue Anne Steffey Morrow

Sue Anne Steffey Morrow is an ordained elder who has been called to university and school chaplaincy, first at Duke Divinity School, then to Princeton University, and now at the Lawrenceville School in New Jersey. She cares about the art and craft of preaching as well as expanding the Christian vision to include all of the world's religions.

Hospitality: Risking Welcome by David O. Jenkins

David O. Jenkins is Director of the Faith and the City Program and Lecturer in Church and Community Ministry at Candler School of Theology, Emory University. An active member of the L'Arche movement, he has maintained a lifelong commitment to studying and living the way in which the Christian faith impacts and changes life, especially in urban areas. He lives in Atlanta, Georgia.

