

The Call of Zulina

Kay Marshall Strom

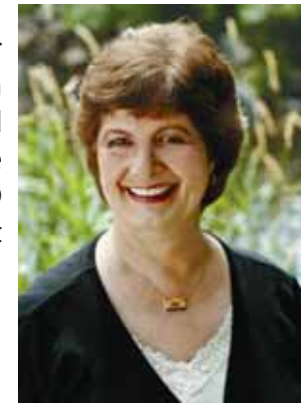

*Daughter of slave traders leads revolt against injustice
West Africa, 1787*

Grace Winslow, the daughter of a mixed marriage between an English sea captain and an African princess, is swept up in a slave revolt after she escapes the family compound to avoid an odious betrothal.

As the truth about the fortress of Zulina unfolds, Grace begins to grasp the brutality and ferocity of the family business—the capture and trade of slaves.

Despite being held for ransom, viciously maimed by a runaway slave, and threatened with death, Grace sympathizes with the plight of the captives. She is especially moved by the African Cabeto's passion, determination, and willingness to sacrifice anything, including his own life, for his people's freedom. Leaning on the faith of her nanny Mama Muco, Grace risks everything to follow her heart.

Of Kay Marshall Strom's thirty-four published books, four have been chosen as book club selections, nine have been translated into foreign languages, and one has been optioned for a movie. One of her best-known works is Once Blind: The Life of John Newton, which has been packaged with the DVD Amazing Grace. Kay travels the globe, speaking out against social injustice, especially that of modern-day slavery. She and her husband, Dan Kline, live in Eugene, Oregon.
