

The Fence My Father Built

Linda S. Clare

This is the story of finding your way home—even when home is a trailer in the middle of nowhere.

All her life Muri Pond dreamed of finding the father who left her when she was three years old. Now it's too late. Joe Pond has died, willing his remote Central Oregon high-desert property to his citified daughter, a librarian who'd rather research than ranch.

When legally separated Muri Pond hauls fifteen-year-old daughter Nova and eleven-year-old son Truman to her inherited property, she's confronted by a troublesome neighbor and her father's legacy—a fence made from old oven doors.

Along with Aunt Lutie and the Red Rock Tabernacle Ladies, Muri must rediscover the faith her alcoholic Native-American dad somehow never abandoned.

Linda S. Clare is an award-winning co-author of three books, including Lost Boys and the Moms Who Love Them (with Melody Carlson and Heather Kopp), Revealed: Spiritual Reality in a Makeover World, and Making Peace with a Dangerous God (with Kristen Johnson Ingram). Linda graduated summa cum laude from Arizona State University. For the last seven years she has taught college-level creative writing classes and edits and mentors other writers. She and her husband of thirty-one years have four grown children. They live in Eugene, Oregon.

www.GodSongGrace.blogspot.com

View the book trailer

Read the first chapter

Free study guide

BUY

Abingdon Press ^{fiction}
a novel approach to faith

www.cokesbury.com/fiction

